

Proof of vehicle ownership.

As part of your charge point online application, you will need to share evidence to prove you are the registered owner of your vehicle. Your 'Vehicle Registration Number', also known as VRN, is accepted as evidence that you have possession of your vehicle on the day of your charge point installation.

The easiest way to find your VRN is to look at your license plate. The VRN and the license plate are the same thing. That said if your vehicle isn't in your immediate possession, you can find your VRN in your vehicle documents such as your vehicle 'Registration Certificate' or your 'Certificate of Title'.

Here's an example of what it should look like:

If your vehicle is on order and that your VRN is not yet available, simply provide your vehicle's 'Order confirmation' or other proof of purchase stating your name, address and unique order number.
